In my former numbers it will be observed that I have said nothing of the Watch System as at present conducted. It is doubtless, as far as mere cost in the matter of wages is considered, as economical as possible—almost as much so indeed as it is inefficient-and although it must form but a very insignificant addition to the many conclusive reasons to be urged in support of the Secretary's recommendation, it seems to deserve a brief notice.

We might conclude that as many watchmen would be employed in each Navy Yard as, at the lowest rate, the required increase of the Corps would allow ef sentinels; but as I have no documents at hand to show the actual number authorized, and being aware of the all-glorified spirit of economy 'abroad in the land,' I shall assume only one half of that probability-supposing five posts or rounds in each yard : this will require fifteen watchmen, or, in all the yards, about one hundred at a rate of wages averaging over one-and-a-half dollars per diem, and forming an anaual charge of Fifty-Five Thousand Dollars. This deducted from my estimate in article No. 1, would reduce the first cost of the suggested increase to about Two Hundred and Ten Thousand Dollars.

Nor is this all, for, in the spirit of zeal and rationally directed economy we may extend this reduction to a calculation of the probable saving to be effected by dispensing with those sailers whose places on board ship would be filled by the additional allowance of marines.

The lowest probable rate of this saving would be ninety thousand dollars per annum. Assuming this, then, we form the following recapitulation, viz:

Original cost of the increase as estimated ......$264,900 Expense of watch system saved ......$55 000
Expense of saliors dispensed with saved. 90,000 145,000 $119,900

And find that for an annual expense of one hundred and twenty thousand dollars we may obtain not only the important results of efficient protection of an immense amount of public property. in and out of the United States, subject to imminent dangers, and of the property of hundreds of our citizens pursuing, with American capital, extensive commercial avocations in half civilized and revolutionary sections of the world, but those of a magnitude incapable of comparison or of measurement by any possible pecuniary standard or considerations, comprising the security of many of the most serious interests of Government, Law, Humanity, Liberty and Life. Let me again ask, then. what kind of economy it is to delay for another hour the legislation requisite in this matter?

The economical Trustee who should lose the property of his patrons by risking it in unsafe depositories, and only offer in excuse the enormous cost of an additional padlock, would doubtless have to make good the whole amount lost, and yet he would evince considerable superiority in judgment and meral responsibility over those who have the interests of our subject matter in charge and neglect them.

What amount of money would form an offset to the terrible tragedies both of contemplation and perpetration found in the record of the Somers's

How many dollars would be a reasonable valuation of the life's blood of each officer and seaman on board that vessel?

How much would pay for the distress of a hundred families bereaved or disgraced by a successful mutiny? Could their tears be measured by the gallon and paid for by the dollar's worth? And, what is a fair price in Treasury Notes for the disgrace attached to the American flag by the actual eventuation of the case referred to?

These questions must not be treated as trifling with a serious subject. They are asked in effect by every man who urges economy as an objection to the increase of the Marine Corps. W. D. C.

TEMPERANCE AMONG THE INDIANS .- The Lit-Rock Gazette, of the 14th ult. says:

A party of United States dragoons arrived here resterday, from Fort Gibson, having in their custody two individuals from Missouri, who had been apprehended by the Indians and delivered to the commanding officer at that post, fer introducing spirituous liquors into the Indian country, contrary to the act of Congress on that subject. This is a good move, and we hope the Indians will perseversuntil they rid their country of the whole gang of whiskey dealers.

SUMMART EXECUTION. - In Cooper's Naval History in the report of the battle between the U. S. frigate Constellation, Capt. Truxton, in 1799, and the French frigate Insurgente, which she captured in brief and masterly style-this passage oc-

"Early in the combat one of the men [on board the Constellation I flinched from his gun, and he was instantly killed by the third Lieutenant, to whose division he belonged."

This is the whole story-no name is given, no comment made. But it is known that the Lieutenant in question was Mr. Sterrit, who afterwards, is command of the U. S. schooner Experiment, performed many gallant feats in the Tripolitan

It is also certain, as we believe, that no Court of Enquiry, or enquiry of any sort, was instituted American. into this proceeding.

PROMPT ANSWER .- Chateauneuf, keeper of the seals of Louis XIII, when a boy only nine years old, was asked many questions by a bishop, and gave very prompt answers to them all. At length the Prelate said-" I will give you an orange if you will tell me where God is." "My lerd," replied the boy, "I will give you two oranges if you will tell me where he is not.'

CORONER'S OFFICE .- DEATHS BY SUFFOCATION The Coroner held an inquest this morning at the Halls of Justice in Centre-street, on the body of Wm. Brown, a native of Ireland, aged 28 years, late a porter in the employ of Messes, Coffio, Bradley & Co. in Exchange-street, who resided at No. 404 Pearl-street; and also on the body of Caroline Goerlitz, a German Jewess, aged about 20, a servant in the family of Mr. Dreyfons of 454 Peari-street. It appeared that, at about 4 o'clock this morning, a fire broke out in the Hickory House, a public house at 404 Pearl street, when Brown escaped from his apartment. The girl also soon after ran out of her room; but as she had made preparations to be married to-day, and her wedding garments, all Prepared, were left in her bed-room, she hurried back to rescue them from the flumes. Brown, perceiving the danthe room where she was, but the dense smoke that filled the apartment soon suffocated them both; and they were found, after the extinguishment of the fire, lying upon their faces indifferent parts of the room, dead. Their bodies were conveyed to the Halls of Justice, where the Coroner's Jury returned a verdict in accordance with the above facts.

SUNDAY, JABUARY 8. POLICE OFFICE .- RECEIVING STOLEN GOODS .-Peter Gasley and Mary Ann Carlisie, of No. 351 Orange-street, were this morning arrested and committed for hav-ing purchased clothing stolen by two small boys, on Christ-ma aignt, from the bonse of Mr. Wm. Reardon, No. 212 Orange-street.

STEALING MONEY.-Elizabeth Fallonsby and Charles Slaight were this morning arrested and committed for hav-be robbed Robert Gamble, of Newburg, of $43.

last war, enlisted on board one of our men-of-war as an able-bodied seaman. The fellow was duly entered on the ship's book and was soon at sea. The first rough weather that came, he was ordered aloft, with the usual accompaniment of 'hurry;' but he di n't happen to be in a hurry at that particular time. He looked aloft, shrugged his shoulders, and coolly answered the order of the officer by saying, "Mister, I sha' n't go up thar!" Not go up, you rascal?' "No, sir; I'm blow'd f I'm going up thar to have my head broke with them conflutements that 's knockin' and swingin' about, at least until every thing is quiet." you lubberly scoundrel, did n't you ship for an ablebodied seaman ? "Yes, I did; and I am an able-bodied seaman!" 'You are, are you?-tell me what you mean by saying you are an ablebodied seaman,' said the officer in a rage. "Why, I mean," says Bob, "I can whip any man on board!" This was too much for the officer, and too good to keep. He related it to the captain, and the way the recruiting officer was quizzed during the remainder of the cruize, was fun all round. Bob, however, became an able-bodied seaman, in fact; and proved it by whipping the whole ship's crew at Martinique.
